Turmeric, “the Golden Spice” has a very long history of medicinal use, dating back nearly 4,000 years. In South East Asia, turmeric is used not only as a principal spice but also as a component in religious ceremonies. Due to its brilliant yellow color, turmeric is also known as “Indian saffron.” During Vedic culture in India, it was used as a culinary spice and had some religious significance. According to Sanskrit medical treatises and Ayurvedic and Unani systems, turmeric has a long history of medicinal use in South Asia. Susruta's Ayurvedic Compendium, dating back to 250 BC, recommends an ointment containing turmeric to relieve the effects of poisoned food. In modern medicine, the importance of turmeric has gained increasing recognition, which is evident from over 3,000 research articles published during the last 25 years.
